

Inrto. Tootz Toot Tootsie Goodbye

Toot-toot-tootsie goodbye
Toots and Miltie don't cry
We know you hate to leave here
But since you're leaving, lots of luck and lots of ehber
Come back now and again
Again and again and again..
Before you depart
Straight from the heart.....

If you can parler-vous Francais
Then sing along with us
Cherie je vous aime beaucoup
Bon jour to Gal Paree
The reason for this fractured French and pianissimo
The Abels--they are moving--into guess what- a Chateau?

Betty Anne

Chorus: They're moving to a Chateau out on St. Rd. 37

~~Just~~ like the famous lovers in the movie 7th. Heaven

If you want to call on them don't ring before eleven.

Just look for the Chateau out on St. Rd. 37

Living in a Chateau you must dine on French cuisine
No more lox and bagel, read your Gourmet magazine
Learn to make a crepe suzette, or bake a cheese souffle
And when you render chicken fat--ooh la la--add a dash of sauce Mornay

Anna

No coffee in the morning; for Milk-Cafe au Lait

While Tootz is doing research on the use of the bidet = Betty

Then Milt puts on a beret and jumps off in his Renault

While Tootsie screams ~~like~~ a french cliché--it sounds like oi gevalt Betty

They'll have to take a course in French, but quickly from Berlitz

No more K Jewish accent when they're putting on the Ritz-- Mildred

And those records by the Barry sisters simply have to go Barry

Who sings My Yiddisha Mamma when you live in a Chateau

Now it has to be they're invited everyone for tea
